Judge Hilton was introduced after the meeting at which he freely gave his opinion of some of the workingmen of New York. He declared that Stewart never intended that women should sit at the tables of his hotel who were earning less than the servants who waited upon them; and that the magnificent building, with its grand finish, elaboorate appointments, costly furniture, and marble floors, should not be tenanted by "scrub women." Some of the women who were loudest in their condemnation of Hilton's plan of managing the hotel, wanted the privilege of allowing men to visit their rooms, which could not be tolerated for a moment. Others who wanted to be free and easy, and who not care for "style," would go into the library, pull of their shoes, and elevate their feet on the seats for a good rest, which Judge Hilton pronounced as extremely disgusting, and which justified him in driving them from the house. Another thing which raised the fire as well as the ire of the women who attempted to board there, was a remark made by Judge Hilton to some of the boarders at the hotel, live in, except that at Long Branch, and that women should not despair of securing that is too cold for winter quarters. Some of the Democratic papers have written up James E. Anderson, Potter's chief witness in the investigation. The Chicago Times stripped him bare on Tuesday, and on Thursday the Madison Democrat dealt justly with the scoundrel : "James E. Anderson has earned the belt for being the most consummate har unhung. He gloats over a falsehood with a sinister sneer that would make an imp of darkness leap for joy. While his testimony is not worth a moment's consideration in itself it goes to prove that such a graceless villain would dishonor everything with which he had to do. The conclusion is irresistable that he would never allow the returns of a parish to pass through his hands without tampering with them. He really needed no incentive to be mean, but having one would only be the meaner. Stanley Matthews admits that he offered the fellow a place but that he did so without the knowledge of frauds. We then made the statement that every cyclone, or more properly tornado, which has visited the West occurred between the hours of three o'clock and six o'clock in the afternoon. The reason of this is as yet unexplained, but the fact exists that all our severe and destructive storms 'do occur at that time of day. Both of the tornadoes referred to occurred as all others have, within these hours. Last Sunday between five and six o'clock a tornado swept over the town of Radnor, near Peoris, Illinos. An Appalling Catastrophe at a Cos Pit at Haydock .- Two Hundred and Thirty-Two Persons Killed.

LONDON, June 7.- The explosion in the coal pit at Haydock to-day shook the earth for miles around. The first explorer descended the shaft five minutes after the explosion, and others followed. Ten men were rescued alive and sent to the surface. One died almost immediately, and another suffered much from after-damp.

Eight other men are alive, and have taken refuge in the working of the mine Two hundred and thirty-two are dead. Explorers state that they found bodies decapitated, reduced to shapeless masses, and some of them blown to pieces. It is expected that the corpses will be brought up by midnight.

A large crowd of men, women and children surrounded the mouth of the pit. The cause of the explosion is unknown, as blasting with naked lights was prohibited.

THE SOCIALISTS.

Bismarck's Anxiety-Another Assassination—The Emperor's Prostra-tion Increasing.

London, June 8 .- A letter has been re ceived at St. Petersburg from Prince Bismarck, according to a special dispatch from the Herald's correspondent at the Russian capital, announcing his intention as it would leave but the fag-end, all the to conduct the proceedings of the Congress with all possible rapidity, because the recent attempt against the Emperor's life has shown that Germany must give special attention to her own internal affairs.

It also transpires that when Dennis made his sworn statement it was with the understanding that Hayes was to be ousted, or a vigorous attempt made in that direction. Dennis' whole interest in the affair centers around one purpose-to get Hayes out. He is among the most bitter of the disgruntled Democrats. He now says the Democrats not only basely betrayed him in publishing his statement but that they are too cowardly to keep their promise and unseat Hayes. "They have been frightened by a feeble howl of revolution," as he puts it and Mr. Dennis suffers from a big disgust of the whole business. In his present state of mind it is a question among the Democrats whether he will pan out well as a witness for their side. In their interviews they learn that he knows more about Democratic frauds than they calculated upon, and it is now a question whether the Domocrats have got Dennis or Dennis has the Democrats. Senator Lamar is reluctant to say any thing about the investigation. He has suffered so much from misrepresentations on other points that he determined to keep his views to himself as to this affair. He says, however, that he thought at the time, and thinks now, that, in justice to the Democrats, the members themselves, and the party, the Potter resolution should have been accompanied by a declaration that no attempt was to be made to interfere with Hayes in any way. He says the people have a just and well-grounded fear of anything that looks like a change of high public officials during their constitutional term, but, while there was a good deal of apprehension a few weeks ago, he thinks now the public mind is more tranquil, and there is less disposition to look with alarm upon the possible effect of the investiga-

EMBEZZLEMENT.

The Treasurer of Dodge County $20,-500 Short-He is in the Hands of the Sheriff.

WATERTOWN, June 7 .- The heavy defalcations of O. W. Traynor, Treasurer of our adjoining county of Dodge, is the chief topic of conversation in this community, where Traypor is well known and has heretofore stood high. The investigating committee appointed by the Board of Supervisors at Juneau have made their arrest and in the hands of the Sheriff unable to procure bail which is fixed at $35,000 County Treasurer's offices, was destroyed by a mysterious fire, together with nearly all the contents of both offices. In this fire the bond of the Treasurer and other important papers were burned, making a serious loss to the county. The idea suggested itself to many at the time that this fire was set to cover up tracks, and bury in valuable eyidence.

oblivion another fire occurred in Juneau, and among the buildings destroyed was the one County Treasurer Traynor had occupied since the previous conflagration. This fire occurring so soon after and again making an almost clean sweep of the contents of the Treasurer's office, caused intense excite-ment and culminated in an inquiry into the affairs of the Treasurer. It was generally feared that, owing to the loss of documents in both fires, there would be no material on which to base the investigation or to establish the dishonesty of the Treasurer. The Committee, however, completed its work, making a voluminous report containing a lot of satistical information, and charging Mr. Traynor with having embezzled the funds of the county to the amount of $20,500. It seems to be the opinion that Traynor's bondsmen cannot be held responsible owing to the destruction of the bond, and hence the taxpayers will probably have to stand the loss.

WATTERSON.

He Thinks the Democrats Can "Fix

NEW YORK, June 7 .- Henry Watterson to-day frankly confessed the Democratic purpose in investigating the Electoral frauds. In an interview he said that it was impracticable to think of turning Hayes out now, and would be of little advantage, offices being filled. The Democrats could better afford to wait till 1880, and then take their turn. In short, to turn Hayes out was too big a load for so little a horse. The Democrats were bound to make the investigation, else the charges they had made would have struck the country as idle twaddle. Mr. Hayes, however, was practically safe, but, by the opening of the matter, he thought, they would be able to so far smirch John Sherman as to drive him out of the Cabinet.

Three Good Lessons.

"One of my first lessons," said Mr. Sturg's, the eminent merchant, "was in 1813, when I was 11 years of age. My grandfather had a fine flock of sheep, which were carefully tended during the war of those times. I was the shepherd boy, and my business was to watch the sheep in the fields. A boy who was more fond of his book than the sheep was sent with me, but left the work with me, while he lay under the trees and read. I did not like that, and went to my grandfather and complained of it. I shall never forget the smile of the old gentleman as he said :

"'Never mind, Jonathan, my boy; if you watch the sheep you will have the

"'What does grandfather mean by that? said to myself. 'I don't expect to have sheep.' My desires were moderate-a fine buck worth $100. I could not exactly make out in my mind what it was, but I had great confidence in him, for he was a judge, and had been in Congress, in Washington's time, so I concluded it was right, and went back contentedly to the sheep. After I got into the field I could not keep the words out of my head. Then I thought of Sunday's lesson, "Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things." I began to see through it. Never you mind who neglects his duty, but be you faithful. and you will have your reward.

I received a second lesson soon after I came to New York as a clerk to the late Lyman Reed. A merchant from Ohio who knew me, came to buy goods, and said, make yourself so useful that they cannot do without you." I took his meaning quicker than I did that of my grandfath-

H. A. PATTERSON, P. M.

War Upon Weeds. From the Western Rural.

Since the spring crops were put in the ground we have had numerous letters, and from a wide range of country, complaining of an excess of rain. Owing to this state of things much ground devoted to corn and other tillable crops is unfit for the cultivator or plow, and the weeds are getting, no doubt, a start which will require a persistent work, in order to check and destroy them. One of the most effective means of doing this is to use a smoothing harrow be-tore the corn has attained much size, thoroughly harrowing the field, which tears the noxious growth up, while the corn, having longer and stronger roots than most of the weeds, is left uninjured. It is an effective and rapid means of arresting the growth of weeds, which, owing to the wet and consequently very favorable sea-son for their germination and rapid development, have in very many cases, no doubt, taken possession of the ground.

The Western Rural has always been an uncompromising advocate of clean culture. No means available to compass the destruction of weeds should be neglected. The prudent and intelligent farmer will hardly fail to adopt every available method to secure this result. He knows that a weedy field means reduced crops, as well as additional labor to remove the foreign seeds and that this fact injures the sale of his products, and thus cuts down his cash returns; He knows how fast these hudran ces to his success increase or multiply; he recollects that a single weed if allowed to mature may become 500 next year and 10, 000 the second year; and therefore his endeavors are constantly directed to keeping them down. The most effective means of destroying weeds are familiar to our farmer readers, and it is hardly necessary to refer to them here. In connection with the cultivation of tillable crops at this time, however, we urge every reader of the Western Rural who tills the soil to vigilance and determination in the contest which is now before them in the campaign against noxious growth which injure their crops.

Oultivating the Same Plot of Strawberries Another Year.

There are various dispositions in this respect, that of the least trouble, is to allow the runners to take root near the parent plant, making a row of ten or twelve inches in width, or more, depending on the width of the original rows. Another is to run a small plow between the grows, making a furrow large enough to receive manure, without throwing the dirt over, your plants. Fill the same with compost or cow manure level the dirt over it, and it is ready to lay row; then prepare the vacant space by plowing and manuring, as directed, allowing the remaining rows to make beds of plants, two feet or two and a half wide. according to the original width, by laying or distributing the runners over it, or laying them in.

In preparing beds of this kind, after the new plants were well rooted, you are to take out the old plants, while the space occupied by them, serves as a path between the new ones. It is always well to remove the old plants, after they have served the purpose of making new ones.

If as before proposed the original rows were two, or two and a half feet apart, and well manured for Winter, if you prefer, you may fork the manure in between the rows, allowing the new plants to cccupy the new space, the same as when running the furrow and manuring.

Of the two plans I much prefer the lat-ter for small beds; having adopted this one for the last few years, and found it very successful. By keeping the rows very narrow almost to a single row, you may continue | For particulars apply to first proposed, one year in advance, and setting single rows.

This plan I should invariably pursue, if CRACKERS!

and you may return to it, in a year or two, One objection, and a very serious one, is that grounds occupied by strawberries, year after year, are liable to be infested with Butter, destroying them to such an extent, as to seriously interfere, and sometimes, as in Graham, case of severe drought, ruin the whole bed.

For this reason, and the unfavorable action 4:40 a m of new ground, I prefer a new bed each year .- E. W Durand.

> Chickens and Currants. J. M. Smith, of Green Bay, Wisconsin, relates his experience with the current worm, in the New York Tribune, as fol-

It is now twenty-two years since moved to my present home, and about twenty years since my currant bushes begun to bear. About the second or third year of their bearing the common green current worm made its appearance and threatened to destroy the crop. I put one or two hens with broods of chickens among the bushes; the worms disappeared very suddenly, but the fruit remained and gave a very nice return. Since that I have kept poultry constantly among the currents. As to cultivation, each spring the bushes are carefully trimmed, leaving a few of the thritty shoots to grow, and cutting back some of the old stems, and after they have borne heavily for two or three years cut them out entirely, and let the younger ones take their place. The ground is well manured and worked over with a spade or fork We have to dig very shallow to keep from injuring the roots. Sometimes I use coarse manure, and put it close around the bushes The chickens scratch the manure accord ing to their liking, but they cannot get it out from among the bushes, and perhaps it is just as useful to the crop after they have spread it in their way, as it is when I put it on in mine. At any rate, the result has been that for the twenty years since the bushes began bearing, they have not failed bushes did not he flat upon the ground throughout he entire West, was almost a total failure, yet my bushes were loaded as usual, and promise another big yield this season.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

A purely vegetable distillation entirely unlike all other remedies.

In the preparation of this remarkable remedy every herb, plant, and bark is subjected to distillation, whereby the essential medical principle is obtained in vapor, condensed and bottled. What remains in the still is inert, valueless, and totally unfit for use in an organism so delicate as the nasal passages. Yet all snuffs are insoluble compounds of woody fibre; all tinctures, saturated solutions.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

Is a local and constitutional remedy, and is applied to the nasal passages by insuffiction, thus allaying inflammation and pain and at once correcting, cleansing, and purifying the secretions. Internally administered, it acts upon theoreans of circulation, keeps the skin moist, and neutralizes the acid poison that has found its way into the stomach and thence into the blood. Thus a cure progresses in both directions, and it does not seem possible for human ingenuity to devise a more rational treatment.

Gentlemen. — About twelve years age, while travelling with Father Kemp's old Folks Concert Troupe as a tenor singer, I took a severe cold and was laid up at Newark, N. J. This cold brought on a severe attack of Catarrh, which I battled with every known remedy for four weeks without avail, and was finally obliged to give up a most desirable position and return home, unable to sing a note. For three years afterwards I was unable to sing at all. The first attack of Catarrh had left my masal organs and throat so sensitive that the slightest cold would bring on a fresh attack, leaving me prostrated. In this way I continued to suffer. The last attack, the severest I ever had, was terrible. I suffered the most excruciating pain in my head, was so hoarse as to be scarcely able to speak, and coughed incessantly. I thought I was going into quick consumption, and I firmly believe that had these symptoms continued without relief they would have rendered me an easy victim. When in this distressing condition, I commenced the use of Sanfoed's Radical. Cure for Catarrh, very reluctantly, I confess, as I had tried all the advertised remedies without benefit. The first dose of this wonderful medicine gave me the greatest relief. It is hardly possible for one whose head aches, eyes ache, who can scarcely articulate distinctly on account of the choking accumulations in his throat, to realize how much relief I obtained from the first application of Sanford's Radical. Cure. Under its influence, both internal and external, I rapidly recovered, and by an occasional use of the remedy since, have been entirely free from Catarrh, for the first time in twelve years.

Respectfully yours. . SURPRISING CURE.

FARM NOTES.

Good harvest hands are in demand in the farming district of California at from $30 to $40 a month with board. Fillmore county, Minnesota, has thirty-seven grist mills, with one hundred and forty-six run of stone. The farmers of California are now en-gaged in haying, and they are gathering for over forty years, and have had the Chronic one of the largest crops ever harvested.

The Maine Sugar Beet Company has been organized at Portland, with a paid in capital of $20,000. The company has made contracts for five hundred acres of beets. Mr. Batcham says that 20,000 bushels of strawberries were grown about Cleveland in one season and consumed by that city.

The port of Norfolk, Virginia, reported about 100,000 bushels of strawberries for The tamous Ben Holliday estate in Westchester county, New York, including 714 acres of highly cultivated land, the castle, the chapel and other buildings, has been

An Iowa farmer had poor health and his wife undertook the management of things herself. She now raises beef and pork for market, feeds the stock and attends to them with her own hands, plastered her house herself, and is gradually managing to pay off a mortgage on the farm. Besides all her numerous duties she finds time to read newspapers.

As a general rule, the farmer who is desirous of selling his property, works to very poor advantage. Everything is done upon the "whitewash" principle. All repairs are for the purpose of covering up defects without regard to durability. It doesn't matter to him if it is patched over. It will last until the property is off from his bands. Six Million Farmers.

By the last census there were nearly 3,- MR. H. R. STEVENS: 000,000 of farmers and planters who and find it gives most excellent satisfaction. wned their lands. There were about an equal number of men who rented lands or worked as farm hands. In the South these were mostly freedmen, but in the North farmers' sons. The number of land-renters in the North is small as compared with the number of land-owners. The whole number of men who work land for a living, including tenants, hired laborers' and farmers' sons, is not far from 6,000,000, and represent about 5,000,000 of tamilies, or more than half the total population of the American people.-Chicago Tribune.

The Striped Bug.

Every gardner knows that this is a most destructive insect among melon, cucumber and other young vines, sometimes damaging the crop seriously. Many remedies have been suggested, some of them no doubt good in their way, but troublesome. Now we have tried for several years another which has proved with us a complete success. Instead of aiming to drive away the insects by soot, ashes, etc., we pet 'it, or rather, furnish it with foc l better than the young melon and cucumber plants. We THROAT, sow around each hill at the time of each planting, a tew rad'sh seed, and coming up about the same time, the top supply pasture for the bug, which it much prefers to the vines. Lettuce will also answer, but the radish tops are completely perforated. Should this fail, which is seldom the case, and has never been with us, sprinkle the vines with a solution of whale oil soap and water. No other insect but the curculio can stand this. Where this preparation is not attainable, a weak solution of carbolic disinfectant soap will answer as well.

To protect the fields against their depredations many devices are resorted to, two of which at least are effectual, the rest doing little or nothing to avert the mischiet. The first is the running of a twine around the field, elevated six to eight feet from the ground on poles; but this requires time and is somewhat expensive. The other is to sow corn over the field to feed the hungry birds. It is not necessary to extend this sowing over more than a small portion of the ground at two or three dif- RICHARDSON, BOYNTON & CO. ferent places, at the headlands. THE VERDICT.

The Jury in the Brown Case Declare Him Innocent.-The Motion for New Trial in the Snell Case.

The Circuit Court to-day presented a scene of great interest. The case of the State vs. Walter Brown came to a close and the Judge delivered his charge to the jury. The defendant was accused of setting fire to the house in which he was living, and it was claimed that rags saturated with kerosene were found stuffed into holes in the plastering, and cotton also saturated was lying on the floor, when the firemen entered. The motive assigned was that Brown wanted to get the insurance on his household goods on which he had a policy of $300. The defense showed that the property was not over-insured, and that consequently there was no motive actuate him to commit a crime. It was shown that he was the first to give the alarm, and was most zealous in helping put out the fire. It was also shown that he had maintained a good character from his boyhood up. A physician had prescribed, a few days before, the use of kerosene on the child's throat, which was sore, and the wife claimed that she undressed the child by the stove that night, and left the cloths and clothing lying in the room where the fire occurred. The evidence was not clear that the fire originated by incendiarism, and even if it was thus started, there was nothing to show that Brown had any connection with it, or any motive for setting the house on fire. The jury after being charged by the Judge retired, and in twelve minutes, by the clock, brought in a verdict

Chang Wing Ling, the washee-man, has strange way of treating customers, acording to the story told by John Hogan Hogan claims that a few days ago he carried a shirt to Chang's place to have a fancy polish put on it. At the time set for its return he went to the washing shop and found to his surprise that the shirt had not been touched. He insisted on taking it away, and getting it done somewhere else. Mr. Chinaman objected unless he would first pay him afteen cents. Hogan refused because no work had been done on the shirt. Mr. Chinaman then wanted a nickle call in the Marshal, and the shirt was then handed over, but piece of paper the Chinese washing machine came forth in fury from behind the counter, and presented a cocked pistol to Hogan's breast. He needed no second invitation to leave, and bastened out with days, making the witnesses' fees amount to his shirt. To-day he swore out a warrant for the arrest of the belligerent laundryman, charging him with assault. CONGREGATIONALISM. An Interesting Convention of Pious es, which adjourned last evening, was one of the largest and most enthusiastic that has been held for some years. The opening preliminary meeting was led by Prof. Whitney, of Beloit.

At half-past three on Thursday afternoon the Moderator, Rev. T. P. Sawin, called the convention to order, and after the making out the roll, proceeded to the election of a moderator for the ensuing year.

Rev. A. L. P. Loomis, of Milton, was chosen to this office, and Rev. D. S. Holbrook, of Geneva, was elected Scribe. Rev. J. L. Collie was elected Treasurer.

The committee on the revision of the constitution then made their report. evident that the conservatives had a numerical majority and at the last the committee were instructed to perfect their revision and present it again at the next ing.

In the evening a large audience gathered to listen to a sermon from Rey. T. P. Sawip, the retiring Moderator. His subject was: "The Correlation of Forces in Sowing and Reaping." He presented the conditions of a spiritual harvest, and set forth as a leading idea that the measure of work done here was not to be limited to time. The present owes a debt to the past, and it can pay it only by making the future indebted to it.

The meeting yesterday morning was led by Prof. Blaisdell; after which a discussion was held, relating to home missionary work in this State. The facts were ably presented by Rev's Webb, Higley and Colhe, also by Superintendent Doe. An effort was made to provide a way for greater efficiency in the State Society, and the report presented by Rev. J. Collie, of Delavan, was accepted.

An interesting paper was presented by Rev. D. L. Holbrook on the "Conditions of Spiritual Success," and another paper full of sound sense and no little wit by Rev. William Walker on "Benevolence." The Lord's Supper was then celebrated and the Convention adjourned to meet at Whitewater, December 9, 1878.

In the evening a very large audience gathered to hear a very large man speak on a very large subject in a very grand manner. There is no question but Joseph Cook holds his own mentally, morally and physigratulate him on the establishment of his cally, and that is holding a good deal. His innocence. The case has been rather a lecture cannot be described. We can only hard one as Brown was here, away from say, "it was immense."

WHY DIDN'T THEY STOP?

A! delegation! of seven aldermen from Janesille, Wisconsin, were out to Marshalltown yes terday, to inspect the water works. They had orders to visit Cedar Rapids and Burlington, but got so fearfully full that they passed through here last night fast asleep, and by this time are doubtless telling to their constituents what grand sights they saw .- Cedar Rapids Republican.

Yes they were full-full of enthusiasm | free. and full of Burlington's pure water, and they slept as those only can sleep whose consciences are clear. They would have stopped at Cedar Rapids had not they been on a mail train, which did not stop at flag-

A SUMMER RESORT.

The Bidwell House, at Palmyra, Wisconsin, has become one of the most popular resorts in the State for those seeking health and pleasure. Its location is fine, it being surrounded by beautiful lakes and charming grounds, and near the famous mineral springs, whose curative and healthproperties many experienced. The tel is elegantly finished and furnished, and its appointments are all arranged for comfort and convenience. The Turkish bath rooms are to be opened the fifteenth of this month. An expert shampooner and courteous attendance have been engaged for the gentlemen, and a lady physiclan has been engaged for the ladies' department. The terms for board will be the same as last year during June. Those who desire to combine health and recreation can find no more charming spot and no greater comforts in the state than at the Bidwell House.

NOWS YOUR CHANCE.

Among the most enterprising and goaheadative firms in this city are Smith & Bostwick. They mean business not merely one day in the year, but every day, and when they speak to the public they In another column will be found some facts and figures which they place before the public, and to which the people should pay attention. The firm has been so long established that the public has long since learned that they can be relied upon to furnish good goods, and lots of them for a yery little money. They keep their shelves and counters crowded with stock. and in their store can be found as large and varied assortments of the latest goods, tell their prices, and a general invitation is extended to everybody to come and see for themselves. They are continually getting in cases of new goods, and seem determined to keep up with the times, so that there is no need to go to Chicago, or elsewhere to find out what there is new. Their goods are also serviceable, and as representures on some lines of goods as will be seen by reading their proclamation, and which can be verified by a call at the store, and an examination of their stock.

A GOOD TIME COMING.

There will be a grand picnic for the benefit of St. Mary's church, at Buob's Grove. next Monday. Music by the Bower City Band. Refreshments sold on the grounds. The Bower City Belle has been chartered for this occasion and will run hourly, from about 10 o'clock a. m., until 11 o'clock p. ing stood at 52 degrees above, and at 2 m. There will be diverse amusements during the afternoon and evening, and a ral result. The digestion of food, the movements rain. One year ago to-lay at corresponding good time may certainly be looked for by of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and young and old. Thanking the citizens of Janesville and vicinity for their patronage and good will in the past, we earnestly wish and hope that this will also be the case in the future. Let all take a boat ride on the Bower City Belle on that day, and come for themselves and judge for themclyes. Postponement in case of rain.
